

We monitor an extensive set of primary content sources to maintain accurate and continually updated records for the entire United States and territories. Data is compiled and validated from these primary sources, and extensively audited using both certified coders and proprietary artificial intelligence systems. Our automated and manual auditing systems consistently correct errors found within the original data, and we work with the source organizations in verifying and correcting their incorrect or inconsistent data. All data and systems are maintained in-house by our employees, and no work is outsourced.
